Subject: Homeowners Meeting of March 28, 2018

Moonraker Residents:

Last night's meeting was full of important information that is relevant to Moonraker and our surrounding communities.

We met the new levee board member, Suzanne Mayfield Krieger, who expressed her substantiation for our flood protection. She was engaging with a new approach for flood prevention support, and her resume is quite impressive.

Dan McGovern, our own levee board member, gave firm information pertaining to our project 1.0 that was really positive (the main issues will be forwarded later).

John Faust, our own levee board member, gave information relating to mitigation. John was kind enough to stay after the meeting to answer any questions residents had regarding the planning, the stages of development, projected time lines, etc.

Safety issues regarding cameras, speeding, attempted break ins, destruction of property, differences between the EIHOA and Moonraker communities, and sheriff's deputies' response times were discussed.

Other topics included the difference between covenants and ordinances, what can and can't be enforced, and street repair..

The meeting was extremely successful and chock full of important information except for the fact that it ran late, something that will be corrected in the future.

The following is information promised to our residents.
